The state of North Carolina has waked up from its hideous nightmare and shaken its cracking limbs, as Rip Van Winkle did when he waked up after his twenty years' sleep on the Catskills. The people have declared their independence. There was not much policy about it. They simply shook themselves free from the incrustations of cliques, disrobed themselves from the stiff and stained garments which they had been wearing so long, and jumped out of the old, rickety, squeaking, rusty vehicle in which they had so long ridden, without caring much where they landed, only so be it, that they could draw a long breath, take leaps in the air unmoored, and limber up their stiffened muscles, in unrestricted gymnastics.

John W. Daniel has been nominated by the Bourbons of Virginia for Governor, James Barber, of Culpepper, was nominated for Lieutenant Governor, and P. W. McKinney for Attorney-General.

Standard silver dollars to the amount of $2,300,000 are to be coined at the mints during August, of which $400,000 are to be coined in New Orleans.

The estimates based on returns received at Raleigh are 60,000 or 70,000 against the prohibition bill.

The Rev. Dr. Burkhead sailed in the City of Berlin on Saturday, for the Methodist Episcopal Council at London.

Secretary Blaine informs the Earl of Granville, Foreign Secretary, that national, state and municipal authorities are seriously endeavoring to discover the authors of the plot to ship dynamite to England, in which he has reason to believe very few were engaged, and that no pains would be spared in discovering and prosecuting them.

We are now fairly inside the reign of the Dog Days, when Sirius is at his hottest, and blazes night and day on her fiery orbit. We never knew how much this brightest star in the constellation of Canis Major, the Big Dog weighed, nor how many thousand miles a day she traveled, according to Ptolemy, but we did know that about the latter part of July and the first part of August these torrid suns began to turn blood red, and the Fahrenheit leaped among the nineties, showing that we had arrived.

"At what time the sultry Syrian Star, Chained to her wheels the harness of war."

You may go on the sea-shore, or among the cold brooks of Thetis and it is all the same.

DR. R. M. NORTON.

This gentleman has proven to the state what he can do in the county of Robeson. He has worked manfully, and cannot be too highly praised for his work in behalf of the rights of the people.

Mr. E. K. Proctor says Robeson has gone 1,800 majority against the bill. Bolters and disorganizers stood no chance in Robeson.

Colonel O. H. Blocker has been in the state for the past ten days on business connected with the Revenue Department. The Department keeps Col. Blocker all the time on the go. He is one of the best posted officials connected with his Department. And his superior officers say he is one of the very best.

Colonel George L. Mabson, who desires to particularly mention as one who has done great service in this campaign. He has worked night and day and the grand victory won, shows the value of his services.

Messrs. Joseph C. Hill, C. F. Lock, A. V. Horrell, John Norrell and W. E. Cowan, did valuable service for the cause of anti-prohibition.

Official Bulletin, August 5, 1881.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, August 5, 1881. P. M.—The President passed another good day. The appearance of the wound and the character and amount of the discharge of pus continue satisfactory. He has taken an adequate quantity of nourishment and has had several pleasant naps during the day. At 12:30 P. M. his pulse was 90, temperature 98.04, respiration 18. After 4 P. M. his temperature began to rise as usual and without perceptible dryness of the skin. At present his pulse is 102, temperature 100.4, respiration 19.

Official Bulletin, August 5, 1881.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, August 5, 1881. P. M.—Little can be added tonight to the details of the President's case given in the official bulletin. He has passed quite an uneventful day. His wound continues to present a healthy appearance, and there is a strong probability, although not founded on positive evidence, that the ball is becoming encysted. The patient's temperature at the evening examination was 2-10 of a degree higher than yesterday, but the febrile rise was of short duration, and at this hour his temperature and respiration are normal, and his pulse has fallen below 100. The surgeons report that his progress towards recovery to-day has been entirely satisfactory.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, Aug. 4, 1881. P. M.—Dr. Bliss authorizes the statement that the President is having an excellent day. An examination has just been made, with the following result: Pulse 96, temperature and respiration normal. The President continues to take increasing quantities of nourishment, and is daily gaining strength. All reports of unfavorable changes should be disregarded, unless they have official authentication. The President's condition at this hour is better than at any time since his injury.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, August 4, 1881. P. M.—As the morning bulletin indicated would probably be the case, the President has passed another good day without drawback or unpleasant symptoms of any kind. He has taken his nourishment and shown little fatigue after his dressing and change of position. The wound is doing well, both in appearance and in character and the amount of discharge. At 12:30 P. M. his pulse was 96, temperature 98.4, respiration 18. The afternoon rise of temperature came on later and was moderate in degree. At 7 P. M. his pulse is 102, temperature 100.2, respiration 19.

SUNDAY MORNING, AUGUST 7, 1881

There are lively times around First street when the southern vessels come in from Florida, the Bahamas, West Indies and other southern ports with perishable cargoes. The streets are crowded with vehicles loaded with goods from all the way from Florida.

I think it wrong that in my opinion will tend to lower the standard of efficiency. No promises of appointments have been made by me, or by my authority, and none will be made until have learned the needs of the service.
I do not wish to make great promises of what I propose to accomplish, but insure that this office shall be advanced in the national interests of the government and of the merchants who business brings them in connection with
it. Changes of course will be made but not drastic and radical.

The festivities will embrace grand pyrotechnic displays and grand musical concerts every afternoon, and evening, and a grand national regatta on Saturday, the 10th. The Mayor hopes, on some of the exhibitions, will be used for the reception of visitors and for the headquarters of the Governor of Virginia. One room will be reserved for

THE WILMINGTON POST.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SUNDAY MORNING, AUGUST 7, 1881

Be Wise and Happy.

If you will stop all your extraneous and wrong notions in doctoring yourself and families with expensive doctors or humbug cure alls, that do harm always, and use only nature's simple remedies for all your ailments you will be wise, well and happy, and save great expense. The greatest remedy for this, the great, wise and good will tell you, is Hop Bitters—rely on it.—Press.

How to Plant Celery.

The old method of setting celery at the bottom of a trench is still occasionally followed, either by gardeners who have done this in the old country or by our own people who have not learned the better way of planting it on the surface. Celery is one of the plants with which little is gained by hurrying; it will not grow rapidly until after midsummer, when we have the favoring conditions of warm days and cool, dewy nights, and our most experienced gardeners do not set the main crop until the present month. Market gardeners grow celery as a second crop, to follow an early one for which the soil has been well manured; if this can not be done, then the soil must be well enriched before planting. It rarely grows to raise celery plants in a private garden, if one is where they can be purchased. In buying plants, select those that look strong and stocky, a condition produced by proper cutting back their leaves while in the seed bed. The plants are to be set in rows, four feet apart, and six inches distant in the row; they require careful planting and should be no deeper in the ground than they were originally in the seed bed. In all transplanting, it is important to have the earth closely in contact with the roots of the newly set plant; this may be done by digging along the row and pressing on each side of the plant with the foot, or by carefully crowding the earth down with the hands as each plant is set. If a cloudy time cannot be selected for planting, then do the work towards evening, and give a thorough watering. The plants have nothing further done until September, when the leaves are brought to an upright position, and earth is drawn around to hold them there.

Sawdust.

In New York there are about five hundred vendors of sawdust, having a capital of two hundred thousand dollars invested, and doing a business amounting to more than two hundred thousand dollars annually. Forty years ago the mills were glad to have the sawdust carted away; twenty-five years ago it could be bought for fifty cents a load; but the price has increased, and now it brings three dollars and fifty cents a load at the mills. It is used at the hotels, eating houses, groceries, and other business houses. It is wet and spread over floors in order to make the sweeping cleaner work. Plumbers use a great deal about pipes, and builders to mend walls and floors. Soda water men and packers of glass and small articles of every kind use it, and dolls and some living creatures are more or less stuffed with it. Washington market takes two or three loads a day, and a great deal is spread on the piers, and stable require many loads a day. Yellow pine makes the best sawdust, as it is the least dusty, and has a good, healthy smell. But any white wood will do. They make a great deal of black walnut sawdust, but it will not sell, and it is burned.

Marshall (Iowa) Times-Republican: Our barometer is simply a rich, kitchen well barrel. The contents of our kitchen well are the kitchen slops and milk. We noticed years ago that at times the contents had a peculiar way of foaming. After close observation for awhile we discovered that this action always preceded a rain; and since that we have adopted the well barrel as a barometer and have found it a certain indication of rain. We cut grass and regulate much farm work by it.

Ol Princess Mathilde, the third Napoleon's cousin, Marianne's letters to the Emperor contain and told little story. The clever Frenchman describes the Princess as going to mass in the country, and walking out of church with all the congregation at her heels when the priest begged the Almighty to open the eyes of the great ones of the earth and to induce them not to persecute the Pope.

A beautiful monument, some eight feet in height has been placed over the grave of the late Miss Laura J. Tillet, at the Oak Cemetery, in this vicinity. The work was done by Mr. James A. Johnson, of Charlotte, and cost about $400, which was defrayed by the former patroness of Miss Tillet's school. A most laudable testimonial to a worthy, womanly woman.—Spirit of the South.

Disaster is a necessary part of human experience. Even the year, when it rushes through the summer, has its fall; when it gets up again and goes on as though nothing had happened.

In the time of Herodotus there was a lake in the Egean Sea, a community of "lake dwellers" who lived upon piles driven into the bottom of the lake, and connected only by a narrow bridge with the land.

The painter of the scene of his brush places an aureole on the head of his saint, but the true aureole around the truly saint is woven of fiery experience, and turned to gold through the flames of God.—Dr. A. S. Perry.

Postmaster General James notices Postmasters that have failed to send promptly, at the end of each quarter, when satisfactory returns will be sufficient cause for removal.

WISDOM FLASHERS.

The greatest truths are the simplest; so are the greatest men.

A real spirit should neither count neglect nor dread to hear it.

If you have no enemies, it is a sign that fortune has forgotten you.

Distance sometimes endears friendship, and absence sweeteneth it.

He is surely in want of another's patience who has none of his own.

If there was no wisdom in the world, no one would suspect himself of folly.

Truth never wants an adversary; she goes seldom without a scratched face.

A man in the path of duty is twice as strong to resist temptation as out of it.

Speaking much is a sign of vanity; for he that is lavish in words is a niggard in deeds.

A failure only establishes this, that determination to succeed was not strong enough.

As long as our own conscience does not upbraid us, we need not fear the criticisms of others.

He that does good for good's sake seeks neither praise nor reward, though sure of both at last.

He who saves not as he gets may keep his soul all his life to the grindstone and die not worth a grain.

Good and evil are continually striving within the heart. It rests with man as to who shall gain the victory.

He that lets the sun go down upon his wrath and goes angry to bed, is like to have the devil for a bed fellow.

He that studies books alone will know how things ought to be; and he that studies men will know how things are.

A man who can do good with a well filled purse only is but a beggar following in the way of benevolence and kindness.

Men are frequently like tea—the real strength and goodness are not properly drawn out until they have been in hot water.

How narrow our souls become when absorbed in any present good or ill. It is only the thought of the future that makes them great.

DEMOCRATS AND BONDS.

The Democrats have had so much to say about the Republicans stealing bonds that were issued by the Republican Convention and Legislature of 1868 and 1869, that we publish below the names of the DEMOCRATS and Republicans who received and used said bonds. This will be kept standing for the future in this paper.

The following, who received bonds, were DEMOCRATS:

R. H. Cowan, $2,000,000
W. J. Hawkins, 3,200,000
Geo. W. Swenson, 6,668,000
Wm. Johnson, 2,000,000
E. Belo, 1,440,000
P. Mallett, 500,000
J. B. Stubbs, 1,450,000

Total, $16,256,000

Those below were Republicans:

Dr. Wm. Sloan, $2,000,000
A. J. Jones, 1,500,000
Total, $3,500,000
For every dollar received by a Republican, a DEMOCRAT got five.

The Mexican, Oriental, Intercontinental and International Railroad Company, which surely has a comprehensive name, is seeking incorporation in New York city. The object of the company is to build a railroad from a point on the Rio Grande down through Mexico to Matamoros and other points, and possibly a line to the City of Mexico and the Pacific coast. The capital stock is $2,000,000, and Jay Gould, Russell Sage, General Grant and a number of others are the proprietors.

"Cap'n, I hain't got no money, and I want to go to Washington," said a seedy looking Virginian to the captain of a ferry boat at Alexandria the other day. "You probably belong to one of the first families of Virginia," said the captain, after looking him over. "No," was the prompt response, "I belong to one of the second families of Virginia." "Jump right aboard," said the captain, "I never carried one of that kind before."

Max Muller writes: "Not till that word barbarian was struck out of the dictionary of mankind and replaced by brother, can we look even for the first beginning of our science. This change was effected by Christianity. Humanity is a word which you look for in vain in Plato or Aristotle; the idea of mankind as one family, as the children of one God, is an idea of Christian growth."
